

Description

The configuration tool is used to configure and query the device parameters in the system.

Feature

- * Search device: all devices connected to the network are displayed in the device list display area to view the basic information of the devices.
- * System parameter settings: when saving the device parameters, the data is written into the database synchronously, and support intelligent network distribution for device, and import and export of device parameter.
- * Device parameter configuration: support setting and configuration of each device parameter.